IANNUZZI - HOLT WEDDING

The marriage of Miss June Juanita Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rosser Garland Holt, of Appomattox, to Dominic Patrick Ianuzzi, son of Mrs. Antonio Ianuzzi, of Lexington and the late Mr. Ianuzzi, took place June 29 in Holy Cross Catholic Church, Lynchburg, at 4:00.

The Very Reverend Monsignor F. Harold Mott performed the double ring ceremony against a background of ferns, candles and white flowers in bridal arrangements. The program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Stoddard Waldron, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of traditional bridal satin trimmed with imported lace and seed pearls. Her veil of illusion fell from a cap of lace with seed pearls and sequins and she carried her mother's prayer book topped with an orchdid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Carter Woodson, of Appomattox, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a waltz-length dress of blue silk organza over taffeta with matching picture hat and carried a nosegay of pastel summer flowers. The ring bearer was Robert Holt, brother of the bride.

Robert Bonner, of Blacksburg, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Earle Everton, of Norfolk and Tom Vicherns, of Lexington.

Following a reception at the Virginian Hotel, the couple left for a southern wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a lavendar shantung dress with royal purple accessories and the orchid from her prayer book at her shoulder. Upon their return, the couple will reside at 137 Virginia Avenue, Williamsburg, Virginia.

It was a mess when a cat fell into the family well. They say the late President Coolidge kept a favorite cat in the White House, and poured milk into a saucer for his pet.

We were pleased to see the Rev. James Austin in town Tuesday. He is formerly of Evergreen, this county, and for two years has been pastor of a Baptist Church in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He tells us that his church has grown to 400 members, and is right on famous U. S. Route 66.

On Monday, Mr. J. H. Tolley, one of our best local gardeners, brought us a one pound six ounce, perfectly shaped tomato. Fully ripe, too, and we enjoyed it for dinner that night. Mr. Tolley says his tomatoes are really coming in now.

The ordination service of deacons of the Mount Zion Baptist Church at Stonewall was conducted Sunday evening. Rev. R. Q. Lawing delivered the sermon.

SARAH ANN'S COOKING CLASS

Because the food value is very high in cheese you get good returns for your money. It is available in appetizing variety and should be a must on your grocery list.

Cheese Stuffed Peppers

4 medium green peppers
1-2 cup blue cheese
1-4 cup bread crumbs
3-4 cup mayonnaise
1-2 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Set your oven at 350 degrees. Cut off 1-8 inch slice from top of peppers and take out seeds, core and membrane carefully.

Crumble cheese into small pieces and mix with breadcrumbs, mayonnaise and milk. Fill peppers up to 1-2 inch hot water in bottom of dish and bake 30 to 40 minutes. Serve hot.

Frozen Cheese and Fruit Salad

2 3-oz. packages cream cheese
3 tablespoons maraschino cherry juice
1-2 cup mayonnaise
1-3 cup maraschino cherries cut fine
4 slices pineapple, diced
2-3 cup canned apricots, diced
1-2 cup chopped nuts.
Salad greens.

Mash cream cheese, add cherry juice and blend. Stir in mayonnaise. Fold in thoroughly drained fruits and nuts. Pour into freezing tray and freeze. When ready to serve, cut in slices. Arrange on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise.

Herb Cheese Meiba

1 cup cottage cheese
1-2 teaspoon grated onion
Dash of pepper
1-2 teaspoon leaf sage
1 cup grated American cheese
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 cups hot cooked rice

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Heat milk in double boiler, stir in the cheese, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Stir until cheese is melted. Stir in rice. Turn into a greased 1 quart casserole. Top with grated cheese. Bake for 30 minutes.

Toasted Garlic and Cheese French Bread

3 tablespoons butter
1 cup grated American cheese
Paprika
1 teaspoon garlic salt
Parsley chopped fine
French loaf

Split French loaf into 2 even lengthwise halves. Spread each generously with butter. Cut each halfway through in crosswise diagonal slices. Completely cover the half with the cheese, then sprinkle with paprika. On other half sprinkle with garlic salt, then spread it with the butter. Top with liberal amounts of chopped parsley. Heat on baking sheet in oven 350 degrees for about 10 minutes.

Cheese Spread

Blend 1-2 3 oz. package of cream cheese, 3 tablespoons blue cheese and 1 tablespoon drained bottle horse-radish. Spread on thin sliced rye bread.

COMMENT ON SPORT

By Pete Fritchie

Washington.- The New York Yankees, now apparently on their way again, are back with their old tricks. They are benefitting from the case of jitters they are capable to bestowing upon their opponents. Take the case of the Yankees-versus the White Sox, for example.

The White Sox at one time led the Yankees by six games earlier in the season. Yet such is the reputation of the New Yorkers that they remain a constant source of worry to those ahead of them in the standings. And it is worse for a team like the White Sox to get ahead of the Yankees early in the season, and then lose their lead, than it is for them to close fast and beat the Yankees out at the finish.

Obviously, the White Sox are awed by the Yankees and recently they were guilty of two ninth-inning errors against the champions, and a good attempt to kick away the only game of a four-game set they won—the Yankee scoring three runs in the last half of the ninth to almost overcome a four-run deficit they carried into the inning.

We said earlier in this column we could not see the White Sox going all the way. The one team that has a chance to beat the Yankees, in our opinion, is the young Detroit club, which does not play dead at the sight of the champions and which has enough young talent to get really hot in August and September.

Chances are the Tigers will not turn the trick this year, but if they can stay within six to eight games and then make a move, they should make a race of it. Admittedly, the Tigers have not been able to play consistently winning ball so far, mainly because the much ballyhooed hitters like Harvey Kuoen and Al Kaline have been failing to produce runs and hits, though Kaline is coming on a bit now. He hits into too many double plays.

Kueen, however, is not the hitter he is cracked up to be. The Tigers, with Boone, Kueen, Kaline, Maxwell, Bertoia and others should be a hard-hitting club. They have been in past years, ending up near the top in that department. If these players ever start hitting, they could make the Bengals the only dangerous threat to the Yankees.

Pitchers like Foutack, Bunning, Maas, and Lary—all young— have given the Detroit club the greatest "coming" pitching staff in the league. If the Tigers don't win a pennant with this staff in the next year or two, it will be an awful waste of talent, and we suspect that the Yankees know very well that this young club is a team to be heard from in the years to come and possibly even this year., if Jack Tighe can talk his publicized hittem into hitting when the bases have runners on them.
